

APICS Wichita Chapter 71 January 2010 Newsletter

Please make plans on Tuesday, January 12, 2010 to attend the Professional Development Meeting with a presentation by Semi Pro Toast Masters of Wichita. Topics are How to Think On Your Feet and How To Be Comfortable Speaking In Public. This will be an informative and fun time for all.

President's Message

I hope all of you have enjoyed the holiday season. As we bring 2009 to a close and look to what is to come in 2010, I encourage you to take a look at what the Wichita Chapter is offering and make a resolution to attend one or more of our upcoming PDMs, tours, seminars and educational offerings.

We just finished a fantastic tour of the new downtown Intrust Arena in December. Inclement weather caused us to postpone the tour by two days, but even with the change in tour date, we still had over 50 attendees. This is a very impressive facility, and we got to see a number of areas that will not be open to the general public (luxury suites, locker rooms and dressing rooms). There will be an open house at the Arena on January 2nd. If you missed our private tour, I would encourage you to go on that date. We rented headsets for the tour attendees to use, and they seemed to work quite well. The board is interested in hearing any input from those attending the tour on whether we should rent headsets for future tours.

Our January PDM will be held on January 12th. Our topic will be how to "Get Comfortable Speaking in Public & How to Think on Your Feet." This is a topic that each and every one of us can learn something new from.

We have a CSCP review class that will be starting in mid-January in McPherson. If you or a co-worker is interested in getting the CSCP certification, this would be a good opportunity to learn everything you need to know to pass the exam. There is additional information on the class elsewhere in this newsletter.
